Learning outcomes

On the end of this seminar you should be able to:

- ❖ understand what customers expect from your final product
- ❖ understand how your value proposition meets your customers
- ❖ understand what quality is still acceptable
- ❖ understand who is going to assess the quality of your product

Feedback, answering any questions, and discussion on section 3.1 – 3.4

- 3.1. Project product name: (this is, for example, the final product, service, innovation, etc.)
  - 3.2. The purpose of this project product - the purpose that the project product as a whole is to achieve and who will use it.
  - 3.3. Composition - a list of the main products or groups of products to be delivered by the project (e.g. for a car - tires, equipment, model line, etc.)
  - 3.4. Derivation - are there starting materials from which this product is derived? E.g. there are products that will be modified by the project, etc.

Working together – example on Project products description 3.5 - 3.8

- We will define each section of customer expectations (3.5 – 3.8) working together on example.
- We will use a white board shared through MS Teams
- We will be sharing ideas and filling them in the whiteboard.

Working in project groups – Project product description – Section 3.5

- 3.5. Customer expectations for quality - a description of the expected quality of the project product from the user's point of view, including determination of the standard (specific characteristics of product quality, meeting e.g. testing, functionality, time of use, etc.)
- You can use Empathy map to help generate ideas
- You can use: <https://web.mindonmap.com/create> to create your own map

Working in project groups - Project product description – Section 3.5

Working in project groups - Project product description – Section 3.6

- 3.6. Acceptance criteria - a prioritized list of measurable criteria to be met in order for the final product of the project to be accepted / accepted.
- You can use Value proposition canvas to generate acceptance criteria
